

Macquarie University campuses, partners and pathways

Sydney Institute of Business and Technology (SIBT)

Macquarie University and SIBT have been working in partnership for over 13 years. SIBT offers graduate certificates (on behalf of Macquarie University) to postgraduate students without a background in business, marketing, or information systems and technology to articulate into the Master of Commerce (in Marketing, Business or Information Systems and Technology) or the Master of International Business. You can choose to study at the Macquarie University campus in North Ryde or the Macquarie City Campus in the Sydney central business district. SIBT students have access to University facilities. See page 49 for information on different pathway options offered by SIBT.
